

Player/Parent Code of Conduct

The Wanted feels very strongly about the behavior of its athletes and their families. We always want to represent ourselves to the best of our ability, and be a model for what baseball games should look like, and how baseball/softball families should act. For this reason, there is a code of conduct that we ask all athletes and families to read and sign. By signing this document, you acknowledge that it has been read, understood and that all rules will be abided by throughout the entire baseball season. Should a person not feel comfortable signing this document, please contact Jay Carroll so that an alternative can be reached.

Athletes

1. Coaches, teammates, officials, parents and opponents will be treated with respect at all times.
2. Players will act in a manner that builds camaraderie amongst their teammates, encourage each other, maintain a positive attitude and 'never give up' attitude and be a good representative of the Program.
3. Inappropriate behavior will not be tolerated. Such acts include, but are not limited to:
 - Excessive horseplay, stealing, any act intended to injure another person, etc.
 - Swearing, bat throwing, helmet throwing, arguing with an umpire, demeaning your teammate or opponent
4. When at the ballpark, the uniform will be worn correctly. Jerseys will be tucked in. Hats will be worn facing forward on your head. This rule is in place from the time you arrive at the ballpark to the time you leave the ballpark.
5. An athlete is expected to attend all team functions unless told otherwise. This includes, but is not limited to, lessons, team workouts, practices, games, volunteer activities, and fundraising activities. Please contact the head coach beforehand should a player have to miss a team function.
6. An athlete is expected to stay in the dugout during a game and is not allowed to leave unless it is an emergency situation or they have been given permission by a coach.

Families

1. All family members, friends and spectators must stay away from the dugout during the games.
2. All athletes will be at the park for practices and games at the designated time.
3. Parents are expected to set an appropriate examples for the program, before, during and after each team function.
4. Parents are expected to come to the head coach with any concerns about playing time or anything related to the coaching or running of the team.
5. Parents are encouraged to talk with the coaches on what to work on with their player.

Actions

Violations of this code of conduct may result in, but are not limited to the following:

1. Meeting with the head coach.
2. Suspension from participation in practices and/or games.
3. Expulsion from the team and organization without a refund.

By signing below, I agree to abide by the above Code of Conduct and I understand the possible consequences if violated.
